JAIL CLOSES ON WOMAN AUTO DRIVER

Arresting Officer Says That He Was Forced Off Road by Erratic Driving of Stockton Wife in Chase at Niles

Chief Lynch to Put Squadron After Night Joyriders; Several Drivers Fined; Accident Toll Continues to Grow

Mrs. William Lord, wife of the general manager of the American Express company at Stockton, is in the Alameda county jail charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Traffic Officer J. A. Salom encountered her yesterday between Hayward and Niles driving her machine first on one side of the road and then on the other. Salom, while trying to arrest her, was forced off the road by her erratic driving.

Mrs. Lord was in an extremely intoxicated condition, according to Salom. Nearly two gallons of sherry wine were found in the machine, which Mrs. Lord said was given her by a friend living in San Francisco. She admitted that she had been drinking the wine since early morning, according to Salom.

Deputy District Attorney Frank Shai was notified after the woman had been taken to the Niles jail and after going out to see her tool. Mrs. Lord is in the county jail where she is now, her renderings before the People's Marshal Justice of the Peace Harry Puleifer. Shai declared the woman was so intoxicated that she went to sleep in the machine while he was bringing her into Oakland. She had sufficient presence of mind, Shai said, to ask that her husband be not informed of her plight.

NIGHT SQUADRON.

Eighty per cent of all the serious automobile accidents which have occurred in Oakland within the past week have occurred between the hours of 11 p.m. and 2 a.m., according to the records of the Oakland police department. The increase in campaign against speeders has caused Chief of Police J. F. Lynch to consider detailing a portion of his force to ride in various sections of the city to investigate automobile accidents most frequent.

Previously the speed detail has been confined to work to the police station, but now it will be divided and日夜工作 at night and occasionally late at night and occasional patrols at night no effort has been made toward paying particular attention to the speed limit just for the fun of it. It has been known to do so in the past will find a patrolman on his trail, if the plan now under consideration to detail part of the flying squadron to all-night work is carried out.

According to Chief of Police Lynch there are not enough available men in the police department at the present time to enable him to organize two "flying squadrons" needed detail. The plan now under consideration presents a problem which may necessitate the employing of more men to serve on the Oakland police force.

EIGHT OAKLAND SPEEDERS ARE FINED.

The city is $80 richer this morning and eight speeders are out of pocket that amount. The fines were imposed by Police Judges Smith and Samuels this morning.

The following were fined for speeding on Grand avenue: R. Marshall, Elmer Arey, L. Ramsay, Arthur Chappell, James Cogar, David Scott, Al Rizzo, N. Broder and Harold Wartz. The arrests were made by Traffic Officer Britt.

The fact that E. Stesser, chauffeur for an Oakland taxi company, was driving a load of card guests to a party in Richmond didn't stop Marshal John Glavinovich of Albany from delaying him still longer last night to serve a notice on him to appear in court on a speeding charge.

Stesser is charged with going thirty-five miles an hour along San Pablo avenue by the Albany officer. He is employed by a taxi firm with offices at 1112 Broadway, Oakland, and resides at the Hotel Ray.

SIX INJURED IN BERKELEY ACCIDENTS.

"Six persons were injured in Berkeley as the result of automobile accident occurring in various parts of the city within the last twenty-four hours."

Four of the injured were passengers in an automobile driven by George Long, 3034 Hillgate avenue, which overturned shortly after 2 o'clock this morning at San Pablo avenue and Harrison street, when Long attempted to avoid hitting a dog.

The four occupants of the car were thrown from the machine. Miss Elizabeth Gallagher, 2301 Fulton street, was most severely hurt, a number of her front teeth being knocked out. Miss Ellen Erickson, who resides at Acton street and Channing way, and Walter Wall, 2317 Parker street, together with Long, escaped with slight bruises. All went directly to their homes. The four young people had been guests at a dance at the Twentieth Century Clubhouse and were returning from the dance to Richmond when the accident occurred.

Mrs. M. C. Edwards, 1824 Berkeley way, is suffering from bruises and shock today as the result of driving her automobile directly in front of a motor Pacific electric loco at Berkeley way and California street yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Edwards declared she saw the local approaching and attempted to get out of its way, but failed. She was taken to

Decoto to Clean Up Emeryville; Town Marshal Admits Gambling; Helpless to Halt Vice, He Says

Marshal Ed Carey of Emeryville, summoned by District Attorney Ezra Decoto to explain the existence of race track gambling in that city, has admitted that he is unable to handle the situation and the District Attorney's office will clean up the town, was the statement given out by Decoto today.

Commanded by the District Attorney to appear at the Court House and explain the many race track gambling interests, Carey said the liquor laws make Emeryville a mecca for the sporting element. The plan involves the expenditure of thousands of dollars on projects concerning which I have only a vague knowledge.

"Marshal Carey informs me that the bookshops in Emeryville are operated so carefully that only the citizens of the place and a few trusted 'old timers' can enter active operation. They are laying low."

"When the time comes to act, I am assured of the support of the sheriff's office. Frank Barnet has promised me a posse of deputies at any time and at any hour."

Race track gambling at Emeryville a few days ago was progressing in wholesale fashion, is at present in the doldrums. Gamblers do not like publicity. Whether it threatens them with charges made by The TRIBUNE and by scores of citizens of Emeryville concerning the wide-spread conditions in that town, Marshal Carey admitted that at least two bookshops were in operation.

"Certainly there is race track gambling going on in Emeryville at two places that I know of," said Carey, "but they are so closely guarded by lookouts that I cannot get the goods on them. They know me and when any of us come around, all is as innocent as a church festival."

Will Rout Vice, Decoto Declares

With the District Attorney's office swamped with syndicalism cases and with only one detective at the command of that office, it has been impossible to date to investigate Emeryville," declared Decoto today. "However, since the marshal of Emeryville could not find a clew today to any gambling going on. He admitted he had tried and failed. He admitted also that what had been published regarding the gaming was only too true. However, he had not been able to get the necessary evidence."

"I am not ready to say now just what evidence the district attorney's office has against these Emeryville places. Obviously I do not care to lay my hand on the table for their inspection. I will say definitely, however, that this matter goes deeper, far deeper, than to a few isolated race tracks."

"There is a powerful interest behind this power of interests are attempting to protect it and any campaign against it in that town, to be successful, will have to proceed with great care."

"The latter policy has been adopted at Emeryville. The gamblers are bidding their time. Even the marshal of Emeryville could not find a clew today to any gambling going on. He admitted he had tried and failed. He admitted also that what had been published regarding the gaming was only too true. However, he had not been able to get the necessary evidence."

"When I come around they quit," he complained.

That the gamblers are bidding their time is evident today in their former haunts.

At 3700 San Pablo, where The TRIBUNE reporter placed his bet recently, two forlorn lookouts guarded a layout that was desolate beyond compare. The old stove, once so popular, stood alone in the back of the room and the card room in the rear was deserted. The "joint" over the Santa Fe rooms and the saloon at 4080 San Pablo were likewise quiet by men who looked without welcome upon the approaching stranger.

U. S. Inventor Kidnaped and Ransom Asked

Maker of Depth Charge for Use Against U-Boats in War, Disappears.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

CHICAGO, March 6.—Angelus J. Casten, director of experimental chemistry for the International Harvester Company and inventor of a chemical propulsive agent for depth bomb charges used by the government in the war against submarines, is believed to have been kidnapped in Detroit and held for ransom.

Casten left Chicago Wednesday morning for Washington to collect royalties for the use of his invention.

First reports that all was not well were received Thursday afternoon by Miss Mabel Nelson, Casten's fiancee, in the form of a telegram from Detroit saying his body had been found there, explaining he had been run over by a train. The telegram was signed "The Identification Company of America."

Investigation proved there was no such concern in Detroit.

Late last night Miss Nelson received a post card from Casten dated in Detroit Wednesday night, after the telegram announcing his death had been sent. This led to the kidnapping theory. Casten wrote that he was leaving Detroit.

Until Casten's formula was delivered in Washington last July two secret service men guarded him constantly.

WOMEN VOTERS REQUEST CHECK UPON PACKERS

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The recently organized League of Women Voters presented its views on a legislative question to Congress for the first time today when Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, Denver vice-president of the National Consumers' League, appeared before the House agriculture committee to urge Federal regulation of the packing industry. About 6,000,000 children in this country are not getting sufficient food, Mrs. Costigan told the committee.

It is one of a series that have been largely attended and in which the ouija and planchette have been described as media through which one may talk to the spirits. Last Sunday night he told his hearers how to form "circles" what "code" to use with the "spirits" and warned against lying and fraudulent "spirits" that plague the sitters. He is to lecture again tomorrow night, he will oppose indiscriminate use of the board.

Scientist Church Loses Suit for Control Of 'Monitor' Newspaper areas Were Almost Hopeless, But He Is Now Well and Strong.

Our little boy's health was so poor we were afraid we were going to lose him. He is 10 years old, and has had his lungs ever since he was eight months old, caused by pneumonia. He has been very careful with him and doctor him continually, but we almost despaired of ever having strong well boy.

But since giving him Milks Emulsion all his trouble is gone, and he is in perfect health."—Mrs. G. W. Miller, 29 Maple St., Dayton, Ohio.

Restoring appetite, health and strength in sickly children, mothers and fathers. Emulsion the thing they have always sought. Most children like to take it, because unlike many emulsions and tonics, it really does good.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritious food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural action, doing away with all kinds of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the restive organs in shape to assimilate food. The builder of flesh and bone, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has plagued, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one

CHURCH EXCEEDED POWERS

In deciding in favor of Rowlands, Judge Dodge says that his removal by the directors was unlawful because there was not concurrent action on the part of the first members of the Christian Science church as required by the deed of Mrs. Eddy.

If the "First Members" had the power to remove themselves and transfer their duties to the directors, says the master, those directors were the ones appointed under Mrs. Eddy's deed and not the directors since created by the by-laws of the church.

The only two directors, he says, who had a right to vote to remove Rowlands were Adam H. Dodge and William R. Rathvon, and the board of trustees or Dittmore from the board of directors.

"The trust deed of 1888," the master says, referring to the deed creating the publishing society trustees, "seems to me to contemplate a church to consist of the new members and make its by-laws and a publishing society in close alliance with, but not under the rule of, the church or its officers."

Mr. Dodge, who formerly was judge of the United States Circuit Court here, was appointed as master of the trial by Justice S. S. Supreme Court, who determined the facts at issue, and also to interpret two deeds of trust made in 1882 and 1888, respectively, by Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church. In the first trust deed, Mrs. Eddy named four trustees, since designated as directors, and in the second she provided for the church to be the sole manager of all publications intended to promote the growth of the Christian Science movement.

CLAIM INDEPENDENCE

The trustees of the publishing society claimed that under their deed they were independent of control by the directors. The directors contended that the by-laws of the Manual of the Mother Church were the supreme authority over all activities.

Judge Dodge upheld the ground taken by counsel for the trustees and for Dittmore, that the by-laws of the church did not confer powers upon the directors possessed by "deacons" or "wardens" of churches incorporated under the statutes of Massachusetts.

The court further held that Dittmore is a director under the 1882 deed, and could be removed only by a court of equity, and that as a by-law director he could be removed only for cause.

Judge Dodge expressed an opinion that the First Members of the church may at some time resume their functions, and said that without a membership the Christian Science Church is not a body corporate under the statutes of Massachusetts.

HISTORY OF CONTROVERSY

The litigation began with the filing on March 25, 1919, of a bill in equity by the three trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society—Herbert W. Eustace, David E. Ogden and Lamont Rowlands.

Against the directors of the Mother Church, consisting of Adam H. Dodge, James A. Neal, Edward A. Merritt, William R. Rathvon, Mrs. Annie M. Knott and John V. Dittmore, the bill was filed.

The last two were named together, as the trustees of the publishing society said they were unable to determine whether the action of the directors in appointing Mrs. Knott to fill a vacancy caused by the removal of Dittmore was in violation of Mrs. Eddy's declaration of trust, which provided for four directors only, and therefore neither Mr. Merritt nor Mr. Dittmore was ever a legal member of the board.

In adopting the resolution, Judge Dodge says, "the defendants Dickey, Neal, Merritt and Rathvon, but not the defendant Dittmore, were acting in pursuance of a plan to bring about the removal of the plaintiff and to install in their places trustees who would add to the power and authority of the church."

The hearings began June 2 and ended September 12. Counsel for the publishing society trustees were Shadrack L. Whipple of Boston, Charles E. Hughes of New York, Silas H. Strawn of Chicago and Franklin Withington of Boston.

Frank S. Street of Concord, N. H.; William G. Thompson of Boston and F. C. Demond of Concord, N. H., represented Dittmore and former Governor John L. Bates and E. E. Dune of Boston, E. A. Krauthoff of Washington and Judge Clifford P. Smith of Boston appeared for the directors.

CHURCH FUNCTIONS DEFINED

The trustees of the publishing society asked the court to enjoin the directors from interfering in the management of the affairs of the society or engaging in competing business. Judge Dodge in his findings says:

"The provision of the trust deed that the trustees should manage the business under their own supervision, and subject only to Mrs. Eddy's supervision, prevents me from finding an intention or purpose on her part, then existing, to subject them to supervision by any other constituted authority of the church. I am unable to find, as requested, that she intended all branches of Christian Science activities instituted by her to be carried on under unified supervision of the constituted authorities of the church to which she added after her death.

"Her chief intent or purpose on her part seems to me very clearly manifested at any time. It is to be gauged if at all, only from by-laws approved by her at a later period, after the trust established by the deed had been for some years in operation, and as the various branches of Christian Science developed in number and importance, and it appears to have been an important purpose later formed than one existing when the deed was made."

TERMS OF TRUST

"The trust deed of 1888 seems to me to contemplate a church whose voting members were to elect the new members and make its by-laws; and a publishing society in close alliance with, but not under the rule of, the church or its officers. The provisions of the deed do not seem to me to contemplate, or to suit, a church absolutely ruled, in these and other matters, by an independent board, or a publishing society, or the rule of the board."

"Changed are the terms of the trust, as far as the church is concerned, since Mrs. Eddy has made her new members and made its by-laws, and a publishing society in close alliance with, but not under the rule of, the church or its officers."

Town Growing In Rather Bad Odor

"Emeryville in the Monte Carlo of California, discredited by gamblers and her citizens robbed in pseudo legal ways by a race track gambling ring," declares John G. Dodge, 4325 West street, one of the leaders in the Emeryville Tax-payers league.

"If such rotten conditions exist longer in Emeryville, people will be ashamed to say they live here. Scores of them will not have homes in the neighborhood, we will not have them testify."

Marshals Ed Carey was standing in front of his home on Forty-seventh street, near his big touring car when interviewed.

Town Marshal Carey Defends His Town

"Why pick on Emeryville?" demanded the marshal. "It's this the only place where betting is going on? I heard that there was betting on the races here, but never received any complaints against it. Whenever I went around any of the places things were very quiet. Late I have not heard a word about bucketshops being in operation."

"This town is no worse than any other place. I do not see why you have picked on us. I certainly did not know that bucketshops were being operated in any of the places named by The TRIBUNE. You apparently know more about that than I do."

Mr. Dittmore is declared by Judge Dodge to be a member of the board of directors instead of Mrs. Knott, Dittmore being entitled to the office, he says, both under the deed of Mrs. Eddy and the by-laws of the church.

ONE DIRECTOR SUSTAINED

"For the purpose of a fair hearing," Judge Dodge says, "none of the charges preferred against Dittmore were sufficiently definite as to time, place or circumstance. Just what was complained of could not be known from them. Until made more specific they could not be intelligible. It is believed to be true by the trustees that the by-laws adopted the resolution their belief was not founded upon first-hand knowledge, but upon report only. They were inadequate grounds for any but a purely arbitrary dismissal."

"It may be said that what had passed within the board was necessarily present to the minds of all its members, so that charges were sufficiently specific for that purpose, I find with regard to them, that upon many questions before me, I do not know what has differed from all his associates, but that he had been persistent and uncompromising in urging his views among them, both in discussion at the meetings and in letters to them, and that his letters had been frequent and voluminous, abounding in assertion and criticism of a kind not at all deficient either in positiveness or in vigor.

"But I find nothing in his letters in evidence which can fairly be regarded as going beyond what was reasonably permissible in such a correspondence, or as to his attitude at meetings at which he can be found to have more than his associates. Manifestations of feeling on both sides might under the circumstances have been expected. Unfeigned dismissal for the mere sake of getting rid of an habitual and troublesome dissenter was within the majority's power, I find that the above grounds also were inadequate."

CHURCH BODIES DEFINED

As the directors of the Christian Science Church in many instances did not act in accordance with what is believed to have been given to them by the by-laws and manual of the church, Judge Dodge remarked that Mrs. Eddy, when she appointed the four trustees under the deed of September 1, 1882, evidently had in mind that they should become a corporation in accordance with the laws of Massachusetts relating to the government of incorporated churches. But it is clear, says Judge Dodge, that she had no power to make them a corporation, and that the terms of the deed could not be applied to them unless they were or became "officers of" a church or religious society "similar" to the deacons or church wardens mentioned in the statute.

When the deed of trust was made, says Judge Dodge, they were not, so far as appears, officers of any church or religious society; they were only trustees selected by Mrs. Eddy. The church where they or their successors, later acted as officers, viz., Mrs. Eddy's reorganized First Church of Christ, Scientist, did not come into existence until September 22, 1892. All that Mrs. Eddy gave the four trustees, he says, was a piece of vacant land, upon which later the church edifice was erected.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There is no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, stiffness or stiffness with a clean, white Musterole. Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white cinniment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister. Musterole instantly gives complete relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsitis, cough, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, numbness, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosty feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars—hospital size $2.50.

LATTER DAY SAINTS

IN THE LINEAGE OF DEITY

Man's Divine Pedigree

By DR. JAMES E. TALMAGE

Of the Council of the Twelve Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day

Saints, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Note: For free copies of other articles of this series, send request to the author.

The spirits of mankind are the offspring of God. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints affirms on the basis of scriptural certainty, and as wholly reasonable and consistent.

The pre-existent or ante-mortem state of man has been heretofore demonstrated. God the Eternal Father is the actual and literal Parent of spirits. That many of these spirits in their embodied state manifest more of human weakness than of Divine heritage, that they grasp the earthly present with little regard for the heavenly future, is no proof to the contrary of the greater possibilities of the heavenly future, is no proof to the contrary of the revealed truth that man belongs to the lineage of God.

Of all the spirit children begotten of the Eternal Father throughout the ages past, Jesus Christ was the firstborn. To this solemn truth the Christ has testified in the current age: "And now, verily I say unto you, that was I in the beginning with the Father, and am the firstborn." And as to the human family in general, under our Lord's former avowal, "We were also in the beginning with the Father, and are the firstborn."

The Scripture never says that all things existent upon earth, including man, were created spiritually prior to their embodiment in earthly tabernacles; and furthermore that mortal man is fashioned after the image of God. In short, all earthly existences are material expressions of pre-existent entities. The human body, so far as it is normal, undeformed and uninpaired, is a presentation of the spirit itself.

One of the essential and distinguishing characteristics of life is the power to select and utilize in its own tabernacle, whether plant, animal, or human, the material elements within its reach, so far as such are necessary to its growth and development. This is true alike of the unborn embryo and of the mature body.

Man's spirit, therefore, is the likeness of its Divine and Eternal Father, and in the operations of its function of life it shapes the body to conform with its needs. It would be otherwise than in the image of God if it were not.

The conformation of the body to the likeness of the pre-existent spirit is attested in a revelation to ancient prophet and seer, wherein the Lord Jesus Christ, then in the unembodied state, showed Himself to His mortal servant, saying: "Seest thou that ye are created after mine own image? Yea, even all men were created in the beginning, after mine own image. Behold, this body, which ye now behold, is the body of my spirit: and man have I created after the body of my spirit; and even as I appear unto thee to be in the spirit, will I appear unto my people in the flesh." (Book of Mormon, Ether, 3:15, 16.)

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints teaches that the spirit of man being the offspring of Deity, and the human body thought of earthly composition yet being, in its perfect condition, the very image of God, and man having been present, and called fallen condition, possessed natural traits, tendencies and propensities of his Divine designation, and that these attributes may be developed as to make him, even while mortal, in a measure Godlike. If this be not true we have to explain a vital exception to what we regard as an inviolable law of organic nature—that he begins like, and that perpetuation of species is in compliance with the condition "catch after his kind."

The actuality of the spiritual procreation with which moral birth is expressed in the inspired hymn by a latter-day poetess, Eliza R. Snow:

O my Father, Thou that dwellest

In the high and glorious place,

When shall I regain thy presence,

And again behold thy face?

In thy holy habitation.

Did my spirit once reside?

In my first primal childhood.

Was I nurtured near thy side?

For a wise and glorious purpose

Thou hast placed me here on earth,

And withheld the recollection

Of my former friends and birth:

Yet ofttimes a secret something

Whispered, "You're a stranger here."

And I felt that I had wandered

From a more exalted sphere.

I had learned to call thee Father,

Through thy Spirit from on high:

But until the Key of Knowledge

Was restored, I knew not why

In the better world am I alone single?

Now the thought makes reason stare!

Truth is reason, truth eternal

Tells me I've a Mother there.

When I leave this frail existence,

When I lay this mortal br.

Father, Mother, may I meet you

In your royal courts on high?

Then, at length, when I've completed

All you sent me forth to do,

With your mutual approbation

Let me come and dwell with you.

DISPOSSESS THE TURK.

The agreeable intimation comes from Washington that the President is determined to insist that the Turk be ousted from Europe. If true, this will disturb the Allied premiers of Europe and especially the members of the British government, who have been planning to perpetuate the dangerous and baleful conditions that existed prior to the war.

But let them be disturbed and their plans be altered. The Turk should be returned to Asia, whence he came as a cruel agent of oppression. By this it is meant that the rule of the Turkish government must be withdrawn from the European side of the Bosphorus. Turkish citizens whose home have been in Europe these five centuries need not be deported. Their rights of domicile and home ownership need not be disturbed. They can pursue their peaceful and honest ways, if they are peaceful and honest, under such European government as may be substituted for the sovereignty of the Sultan.

Turkish rule, however, has no place in Europe. It is unfit and unacceptable. The schemes of the traders in the British government and their aids in the French and Italian government should not prevail against the pledge to civilization that Turkey's political sphere should henceforth be in Asia. The peace of the world, of which there has been much talk in recent months, cannot be preserved by any attempt to maintain a Turkish barrier at Constantinople against the Russian people on the one side and the commerce of the world other than Great Britain's on the other.

There is no injustice in sending the Turk back to Asia. That land is his home. There is injustice and unpunished crime in permitting him to retain a foothold, no matter how small, in Europe. Whether this is the view of the Washington government or not it ought to be. No other is acceptable to the people of this country.

SHIPBUILDING.

Lloyd's survey of shipbuilding in 1919, the complete figures of which have just reached this country, show the familiar fact that the United States led the world last year. In this country were launched 4,075,000 tons gross, against 1,620,000 tons gross in the United Kingdom. Japan, with 612,000 tons gross took third place. It is rather surprising to find Canada, with 271,250 tons in fourth place and that Holland is alone among the nations of continental Europe to build more than 100,000 tons. The total launchings amounted to more than one-seventh of the world's entire tonnage before the war began.

In ships now building the United States does not maintain her position of supremacy. On September 30 there were 3,075,000 gross tons on the American ways and on December 30, this had fallen to 2,647,000 tons. Great Britain in September had 2,801,000 tons under construction and in December had passed us with 2,923,000 tons.

The result was to be expected with the termination of a vast amount of building under government orders. The construction of ships under private order is gaining in American yards in a manner that is gratifying and encouraging but not so fast as it is growing in the older yards of Great Britain. In November America had under way 550,000 tons, in December 845,000 tons, and in January 977,000 tons.

While the report shows us was to have been foreseen, that peace days find England our greatest competitor in a business that has been considered hers for centuries, the United States is crowding her for place and is the possessor of a new industry that, without the war stimulus, is growing at a remarkable rate.

UNCROWNED HEROES.

Recently the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission recognized thirty-five acts of heroism and published a list of those awarded medals and monetary honorariums. There was no college professor or public school teacher in the list. Yet there are few who will deny that there is something heroic about many educators with large families sticking to their post of clean duty in these piping times of high prices, on the stipends fixed anywhere from ten to fifty years ago.

Commenting upon this situation, Acting President Helen Taft of Bryn Mawr College, says that a few of them have lost their lives in the attempt and more of them are certain to be "gathered to their fathers" if the American people continue to pay Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey in the tens and hundreds of thousands and pay their teachers in pieces of eight.

NOTES and COMMENT

There is very sound truth in this, a warning and an appeal to the American public. A few months ago there was squandered in Toledo, Ohio, on the thrill of three minutes' exhibition of juggling brawn, some $500,000. This added to the budget of a great university or the public school system of a city of the size of Oakland would bridge all difficulties of maintenance for at least one year. There would be no forced closing of night schools, no idle machinery in the shop where the people are expected to improve their worth as citizens.

There is now a crying scarcity of teachers, the good and competent teachers who ought to have been retained in the service of education. The urban communities are suffering most. There has been an influx of people from the country districts and small towns to the great industrial and business centers, where opportunity is more abundant and compensation for human effort larger. If the officials charged with the duty and the public do not think about this matter seriously and initiate corrective steps now the hardship and the educational want will grow.

TEACHING AMERICANIZATION.

In their determination to keep open, at all costs, the classes in Americanization and adult illiterates at the night schools, the members of the Board of Education recognize a pressing need.

The surest way of eliminating radicalism and bolshevism is by teaching the foreign born the rudiments of the English language, opening their eyes to the advantages of citizenship and the many privileges enjoyed by those living in a democratic country—in other words, rousing them to a realization of the meaning of Americanism.

Figures obtained at the time of the recent draft pointed out the need for the work when they revealed the fact that there are more than 13,000,000 foreign born persons in the United States who cannot speak the English language and who are ignorant of their duties and responsibilities. Councils of Defense all over the country united to correct the condition and classes were organized in the night schools, at the factories, and in the mines.

It was found in many of the eastern states, where the weather is more severe, that the foreign born would not attend these night school classes. It meant, for them, a change from work clothes to "best" clothes and often a long journey on the car. The factory plan, which has also been adopted in the west, was used almost exclusively, and a number of other methods were developed to take the Americanization classes to the worker.

In Oakland a large proportion of the foreign born have expressed an eagerness to know of this country and its institutions and have crowded for instruction into the night school classes. By their action they have made the task here so much easier.

To terminate these classes that are engendering a love for this country in the hearts of hundreds of newcomers would be a step backward that the board is wise in refusing to take.

After announcing that the Prince of Wales has established his popularity by filling his hat over his right ear, a weighty London despatch continues, "Many dowagers recall that Edward VII clutched his world wide popularity by adjusting his plug hat at a slight angle." The American who seeks popularity by the hat ronic throws it into the political ring and then retires to see what will happen.

If all of those who have belonged to the Wilson cabinet organize for the campaign they may be expected to control the balance of power.

THE PROBLEM OF RICHE.

Geographic conditions have made Flume situated at the head of a sea which bears clean water transportation into the very heart of Europe and opposite the narrowest part of the mountain barrier, the inevitable economic outlet for all the northern portion of the Balkan peninsula.

The power which holds Flume holds the life of a whole nation at its mercy.

But it is not only Yugoslavia which has a vital interest in the fate of Flume. A whole vast hinterland in the north and east, including Austria and Hungary, and to some extent Czechoslovakia and parts of the newly enlarged Romania, finds in this port a most important outlet to the sea. And all the outside world which desires to trade with central and southeastern Europe via the Mediterranean route is vitally concerned in the solution of the Flume dispute. If the frontier between Italy and Yugoslavia is drawn as is described in the President's famous public statement of last April, the two great Adriatic ports are assigned one to Italy and one to Yugoslavia. The Italian port, Trieste, could then supply the hinterland (Anatolia, southern Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary) by a line of rail which does not have to cross the territory of Yugoslavia and the Yugoslav port, Flume, could supply that same great hinterland by a line of rail which does not touch on Italian territory. In other words, there would be absolute freedom of commerce resulting naturally from a choice of ports served by a choice of routes, both ports and routes being secure from possible interference on the annoying restrictions of a jealous neighbor. It would be to the interest of each country to improve its port and railway facilities to establish the most convenient train service, and to charge the lowest tariffs compatible with a reasonable profit, in order to attract to its port the largest possible volume of business. Not only Europe, but all the world would profit enormously from such an equitable distribution of economic advantages. Conversely, not only Europe, but all the world must suffer enormously if the Adriatic settlement leaves both these ports in the hands of a single power, or establishes conditions which most ultimately result in such one-power-control, or gives to a single power the control of both railways leading northward from the two ports—Aegean.

Commenting upon this situation, Acting President Helen Taft of Bryn Mawr College, says that a few of them have lost their lives in the attempt and more of them are certain to be "gathered to their fathers" if the American people continue to pay Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey in the tens and hundreds of thousands and pay their teachers in pieces of eight.

There is very sound truth in this, a warning and an appeal to the American public. A few months ago there was squandered in Toledo, Ohio, on the thrill of three minutes' exhibition of juggling brawn, some $500,000. This added to the budget of a great university or the public school system of a city of the size of Oakland would bridge all difficulties of maintenance for at least one year. There would be no forced closing of night schools, no idle machinery in the shop where the people are expected to improve their worth as citizens.

There is now a crying scarcity of teachers, the good and competent teachers who ought to have been retained in the service of education. The urban communities are suffering most. There has been an influx of people from the country districts and small towns to the great industrial and business centers, where opportunity is more abundant and compensation for human effort larger. If the officials charged with the duty and the public do not think about this matter seriously and initiate corrective steps now the hardship and the educational want will grow.

WOLFF JAIL SENTENCE IS SUSPENDED

'I Will Never Marry Again,' Says Mary Pickford in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Mary Pickford will never marry again and will devote the remainder of her life to motion pictures, according to an interview she gave at her home here last night.

This was the first statement she made to the press since her divorce Tuesday from Minden, Nevada, from Owen Moore.

"At first," she said, "I considered my divorce strictly a personal matter. But I have changed my mind. I suppose I belong partly to the public."

Mary Pickford arrived here early yesterday from San Francisco where she had gone after securing her divorce. After leaving the train here she was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Charles Smith, who rode down the station platform to escape interviewers and muffed her face as photographers snapped their cameras.

Then she jumped into an automobile and was driven to her home. It was twelve hours later when the interviewer gained entrance to the Pickford house. He was received by Mrs. Smith, who said:

"My daughter and I are very sorry for the way we acted this morning at the radio station. We have since regretted our 'outburst' and offended anyone we want to offer our apologies. We were, that is I was, angered. I lost my temper. It is not true that Mary lost her temper."

ALAMEDA ARK LAW ATTACKED

Warfare against the city of Alameda which recently passed a resolution in the city council condemning the arks on the estuary and ordering that they be removed before March 7, was opened today when Robert Arada and his wife, Julie Arada, petitioned the superior court for a restraining order to prevent the city from carrying out its decree.

Declaring that they are too poor to pay the exorbitant rents charged in the city and that they would probably be compelled to go to the poor house if forced from their ark, Arada and his wife claim their boat house does not really violate any federal or state law of the city ordinance which contains the phrase, "from the public street or avenue aforementioned."

The petition, filed by Attorney Alfred A. Van Hovenberg, declares the plaintiffs have resided in their ark for 22 years and that it floats in the tide lands off the foot of Encinal avenue. They affirm this land is a right of way owned by the Central Pacific railroad which is controlled by the Southern Pacific. The Aradas' state they have two children besides their Ark.

Corporations Get New Limit on Income Tax

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Corporations have been given an extension of 60 days, to May 15, in which to make their income tax returns, declared Internal Revenue Collector Louis W. Bell, today. In confirming advice received from Washington, this extension applies only to corporations and individuals must make returns by March 15, the original time set, or be subject to severe penalties.

Corporations, in spite of the extension, must in the interim, file a tentative return and pay one-fourth of it.

Pneumonia is Fatal

to George L. Priest

After an illness of only a week, George L. Priest, a widely-known business man of Oakland, is dead of pneumonia at his home at 2181 Clark Street, Berkeley. Funeral services were held this afternoon, friends undertaking parlors in Berkeley, with only immediate relatives in attendance.

Priest, who was head of the Advance Electrical Company, was a native of California and was 40 years of age. He leaves a widow, Myrtle Priest and Constance Priest.

Will Show Oakland
Pictures Through East

Pictures of the ducks at Lake Merritt, of Mills College, and the University of California, together with a number of views of shipyards and streets of Oakland, will be shown in the cities of the east by R. Hayes Hamilton, travelogue lecturer now in Oakland. Hamilton is the inventor of a motion picture machine which throws pictures on the ceilings of hospitals for the patients. He operated one of these machines in France during the war.

POLICE WIN IN WAR ON LOTTERIES

What is regarded by police officials as an important victory in ridding the city of Chinese gambling and lottery houses was established when Police Judge George Samuels issued Fook Sook, 328 Seventh Street, Chinese merchant, to 150 days in the county prison or $300 fine. While I was there I was informed that Mr. Moore was not far away working at location.

"Then I determined it was the opportunity time. I had no knowledge before hand that Mr. Moore would not contest the case, so I immediately secured a lawyer and filed my complaint.

"Some people think my divorce was secured to permit me to marry again," she continued. "This is not so. I merely wanted to be free. Mr. Moore and I have been separated for a year and I wanted a divorce for many years, but it was simply to avoid such a situation I have found myself in today that I put it off so long."

In sentencing Fook Sook, Judge Samuels said that this practice of withholding convictions because of technicalities was a travesty on justice. It is the matter of common knowledge that tickets seized were in reality lottery tickets.

After being found guilty by the court in the trial Thursday the Chinese started the court and the audience by admission that ten percent was deducted from all lottery prizes under guise of war tax.

At the time of Lanphier's death and the mother's expected confinement there was no money in the home and little food. Their sad financial position and not only gifts of money, but groceries furniture and clothing have been showered upon them. A simple, decently furnished home will be provided them as soon as Mrs. Lanphier is able to be moved from her present quarters at 1748 Eighth Avenue. Arrangements are being made to provide the eldest child, a girl of 14, with a business education.

Gifts have been received in addition to those already mentioned as follows:

B'nai B'rith Drive for Members Success

The success of the membership drive which is being conducted under the leadership of Joseph Meltzer, chairman of the Kraus Honor Class of Oakland Lodge, I. B. E. is assured. The quota has been passed and over one hundred new candidates will be initiated into the order on Tuesday evening, March 9, at Covenant hall.

This drive is being conducted in honor of the seventieth birthday of Grand President Adolf Kraus.

The initiation ceremonies will be conducted by the degree team of Oakland lodge, of which Sidney S. Kahn is the chairman. Judge Isadore Goldstein, grand president of the district grand lodge, will be the speaker of the evening and will address the lodge on "What B'nai B'rith Is Doing in the United States and Europe."

District Grand President S. M. Mendelsohn of Fresno, newly-elected, will be present in his unofficial capacity as a guest of the evening. A banquet will be served and the committee in charge looks to the largest gathering ever held in the lodge rooms of the city of Oakland.

Alameda Co. Doctors to Hear Dr. Reed

Dr. Charles A. L. Reed, promoter of public health and relief work, will deliver three addresses during his stay on the coast before public health and medical organizations of the county.

This evening Dr. Reed will deliver the principal address at the annual dinner of the Alameda County Medical Society at Hotel Oakland.

March 11 at 8 p. m. he will address the governing board of the Public Health Center at its regular meeting at the headquarters, corner of Thirty-first and Grove streets. His subject will be "The Medical Profession and the Novelty of the Profession."

On Monday, March 15, Dr. Reed will deliver an address on Convulsive Toxemia before the Alameda County Medical Society, at the monthly meeting at the Public Health Center.

Dr. Reed has done work in his home state, Ohio, helping to allow in the American College of Surgeons, and professor emeritus in the medical faculty of the University of Cincinnati. He is now consulting gynecologist in the Cincinnati General Hospital, and has been doing rural health experiment work throughout Ohio. He was formerly president of the American Medical Association, and an authority in abdominal surgery.

Wilson Treaty Stand To Remain Unchanged

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The President stands pat.

This was the word from the White House today in response to inquiries as to what Woodrow Wilson's attitude would be toward a compromise on Article X of the League of Nations covenant.

Senator Hitchcock last night wrote to Wilson asking him to receive Senator Simmons, Democrat, as an emissary, who would lay before him a proposal for compromise on Article X.

Democratic hopes of compromise ratifications were believed to have been dashed again when the White House let it be known that Wilson sees little need for discussing the treaty situation further with the administration senators, that he is adamant against any resolution except interpretative ones and that he prefers to have Democratic Senators try to convert Senate Lodge, rather than try to convert him.

The President is understood to have made his position clear to Secretary Glass when the latter was at the White House some days ago, and wonders why Democratic senators think it necessary for him to reiterate.

The message by the President was taken to indicate that he will decline to see Senator Simmons to discuss compromise and would so inform Hitchcock.

If the President thus rebuffs those Democrats who want to compromise with Lodge on reservation of Article X, it is hoped that ratification will finally be secured.

DRY AGENTS SEIZE STILL DURING RAID

Armed to the teeth and prepared for a fight which did not develop federal prohibition officers under W. A. Kelly, district supervisor, last evening descended upon a house at 1129 Eighty-third avenue and there found a still operating and three men alleged to have been its operators.

They gave the names Joseph Ventonini, Albert Martirano and Joseph Martini.

The raid was similar to that on Thursday night when two stills were found at 2009 Eighty-second avenue, where Joe Mantovano was taken into custody. As in the former case the officers who were given the stills were armed with shotguns and rifles.

HOUSEWIVES' CONVENTION DATE NAMED

EASTBAY SOCIETY NEWS

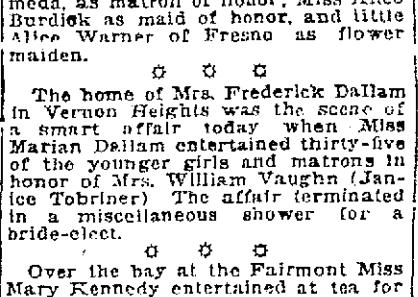

Thoda Cocroft
Weds Eastern
Artist in N. Y.

The California Federation of Housewives' Leagues will be organized this month, the convention date being named tentatively for Thursday, March 18, in San Francisco. Seated as delegates in the convention will be representatives of the Oakland, Berkeley, San Leandro, Palo Alto and San Jose leagues. Leaders in the movement for a state affiliation of organized leagues declare that the San Francisco meeting at which preliminary organization will be undertaken is a continuation of the convention in Oakland city held on February 2, which was characterized as "illegal," and from which delegates from Oakland and San Francisco withdrew, including Mrs. L. C. Grasser, Mrs. Lester Bartlett, Mrs. Meyer Jaffa, Mrs. Robert E. Dean, refusing participation. Richmond and Alameda Leagues remained in the convention, modifying the action of their delegates in adopting a constitution and election of officers.

The result of the stormy February session was the organization of a State Housewives' League with Mrs. Edward F. Scanlon of San Francisco president, and with Mrs. W. G. Gifford, elected Mrs. H. J. Platte, Oakland; Mrs. Herbert Metzger, Mrs. Ethel Wells, Richmond; Mrs. May Larkin Marston, Alameda; Mrs. George Menefee, Berkeley, elected officers. Later ten directors were appointed, among whom were Mrs. A. T. Kalas, Mrs. S. E. Emery, Oakland; Mrs. C. C. Eastis, Berkeley, and others. During the week the State league filed articles of incorporation on county lines.

Representatives of Oakland and Berkeley Housewives' Leagues were invited to participate in the organization of the San Leandro Housewives' League on Thursday, when an enthusiastic group of women adopted a constitution and bylaws and elected temporary officers. The election of the permanent board of directors will occur next week.

Fight Near in Referendum on Property Law

By EDNA B. RINARD

The fight to defeat the referendum against the community property law as amended at the last session of the legislature begins in earnest next week with the opening of campaign headquarters in Sacramento, the advertising of the bill, the distribution of literature and the installation of an office secretary. The return of Mrs. Albert E. Carter, chairman of the state campaign committee to Oakland and her immediate organization of forces has set in motion the battle which will conclude at the polls in the next state election. Mrs. Carter represents the Women's Legislative Council of California, which sponsored the community property bill through the houses and which has in preparation still greater changes which will probably be introduced into the coming legislature. The monthly calendar of the women's organizations which hold membership in the council will be strenuously used to encourage the strong 90,000 women who are carrying the admonition to "Vote Yes" on the fall ballot.

The convention of the state council which the legislative sessions submitted by the women's bodies of California are received has been definitely called for Wednesday, March 11, in Elwell Clubroom, Los Angeles. It will be presided over by Mrs. Lovett, the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, following the executive session on Saturday, which will be attended by Mrs. Lovett, Mrs. Lovett, Los Angeles, state president. Among those who will travel to the south to participate in the convention and represent the northern women will be Mrs. Anna Johnson, president, Berkeley, president of California Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Julia George, of San Francisco. These women go with the amendment of the community property laws and the changes which are desired.

Mrs. Frank Law is sending communication to the various clubs in the state urging a support in the effort to defeat the referendum which has been called.

The bill which was passed by the Legislature related to community disposition and protection of property to other than children or spouses.

WOMEN'S CIVIC CENTER TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Some important Municipal Problems and the subjects which will be considered by the Oakland center, California Civic League, next Friday.

The speakers will be Hugh S. Hartman, city attorney, and Dr. W. H. Tandy, newly appointed director of the state Board of Health.

Tandy, president of second district California Congress of Mothers, will be the chairman. Mrs. C. H. Wilson, the new director of the Anti-Saloon League, Mrs. H. W. Kelley, Mrs. V. Ricker, Mrs. W. H. Kelley, Mrs. George Preston and Mrs. L. C. Boardman, have been named delegates to the annual meeting of the California Civic League.

Mrs. O. E. Danane and Mrs. A. F. Coffin of the Legislative Council; Mrs. Lydia Wolf and Mrs. J. A. Innes to the Big Sister board of directors of the Navy League of Alameda county met in Capwell's Rest Room this afternoon to consider the important matters which relate to their patriotic work still being carried forward.

Mrs. Leigh Richmond Smith, regent, presided.

Seniors Entertain Younger Girls With Trip Through Cherry Blossom Land

Freshman girls at Fremont High school, Fifty-sixth Avenue and Franklin, were initiated into the social life of the school at a reception given them recently by their older schoolmates who assumed the form of a trip through the land of the cherry blossoms, conducted by the senior girls.

The party which is characterized by Miss Patricia V. Moorshead, as a good old-fashioned party, was a complete success and tends to dispel the theory of the Technical High school idea of girls that modern girls can no longer enjoy the old-fashioned type of social entertainment.

The number of girls in the freshman class this year, more than 200, was so great that the party had to be conducted on two different afternoons because of the limited capacity of the school gymnasium in which the party was held.

It is the custom at the school for girls of the upper classes each to "adopt" a freshman when they enter school in order to make them feel at home and bring them into the school's social life.

The custom is based on the tradition of "faggins" which prevails in English boarding schools, and according to the dean of girls at Fremont, has proven highly successful.

Denahy Hens Lay to Beat Living Cost

WOOER OF GIRL THIEF IS JAILED

Mrs. Irene Johnson, freed of a hold-up charge in Contra Costa county, later arrived in Alameda on a burglary charge, was yesterday convicted of the latter charge by a jury in Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church's court. Shortly after the jury had returned its verdict of "guilty in the first degree," James T. LaFerty, who woosed Miss Johnson while she was in the Martinez jail, was taken to court. In his possession was a bottle of poison and a suicide note telling of his love for the convicted girl.

A copy of the note follows:

"Sweetheart: I'm trying to see you or writing, etc. is a crime, then I'm guilty, but I love you sincerely and you know it is true. And I know in our hearts we love each other before you let this or your people wreck your happiness and mine, then go to it. I'm through and I'll love you even in death."

First intimation of the romance was given by Miss Johnson yesterday morning when she appealed to Superior Judge Church for special protection from LaFerty, whom she said she loved. She said that if she were convicted she would never go to San Quentin prison.

How he intended to prevent Miss Johnson from going to prison was not disclosed by LaFerty in the examination to which he was subjected by the police.

While LaFerty declares his love for Miss Johnson she says she does not love him.

Single Tax Opponents Urge Petition Change

A change in the number of signatures necessary to file upon the petition for a tax on inheritance or estate tax is being urged by the Anti-Single Tax Association of California. Under it the petition would bear the names of 25 per cent of the voters at the last gubernatorial election instead of 8 per cent.
